

Mary Hannah Gaddis

Mary Hannah Gaddis is a dedicated educator, passionate about improving literacy outcomes for students. With 14 years of experience in varied roles including teacher, instructional coach, administrator, and facilitator, she has bridged knowledge to practice for students, teachers, and leaders in grades K-9. As the Science of Reading Facilitator in Marietta City Schools, Mary Hannah coordinates structured literacy efforts grounded in the science of reading research for teachers and leaders.